CAPITOL CITY AUTOISTS HERE

Four Leaf Clover Run of the Automobile Club of Washington Passes through Gettysburg on First of Four Days' Run.

Twenty cars in the endurance run of the Automobile Club of Washington passed through Gettysburg today on the first day of their "Four Leaf Clover" run. Gettysburg was the noon control of the day, the autoists stopping at the Eagle for dinner and leaving shortly afterward on their return trip to Washington.

The pilot car left Washington shortly before seven o'clock in the morning and came by way of Frederick and Emmitsburg reaching here about half past ten. The others followed in quick succession, all traveling on schedule. No trouble was experienced along the way and all cars came through in shape.

Battlefield guards stopped the pilot car from throwing out confetti on the avenue in order to show the way for the machines following and as a result only two small handfuls were dropped on the Emmitsburg road leading from the Peach Orchard to town.

The return was started at half past twelve by the pilot car, the press car, checkers and other officials following at brief intervals until all had pulled out. There were few penalties when the machines left here. From Gettysburg they went to Littlestown, then to Westminster, then by Taylorville and Mount Airy on to Washington, the first day's run being 152.4-10 miles. Tuesday's run is to York and return a distance of 179 miles; Wednesday's to Hagerstown and return 153 miles; and Thursday's to Leonardtown and return 114 miles. In each case the contestants return to Washington for the night.

Six trophies are offered for the successful contestants in the various classes.

Some trouble was experienced with the American Automobile Association who advised the run management that only five of the cars entered were eligible. The Automobile Club of Washington advised the A. A. A. that the run would be conducted notwithstanding the warning and this morning received a telegram that all entrants would be considered eligible without the payment of registry fee. The Washington autoists were highly elated over what they considered an important victory.

SURRENDERS HIMSELF

Preston J. Creager, son of Sidney Creager, Tomstown, gave himself up on a charge of carrying concealed and deadly weapons with intent to do bodily harm to other persons.

Creager was a fugitive for almost a week. Friday he went to Quincy, surrendered himself and furnished proper security for a trial in court.

Creager entered the barber shop of J. A. Heefner, Mont Alto, one evening recently, and there got into a quarrel with John DeGroot, Jacob Wile and John Reed. He flourished a revolver and, it is alleged, threatened to use it on some one of them.

Officer E. T. Bland of the state constabulary, was notified and swore out the information against Creager. He learned that Creager was in Greencastle and Friday went to that town, only to ascertain that Creager had gone to Quincy to surrender himself.

MARRIED SIX MONTHS AGO

It has just been learned in Fairfield that William S. Hill, who left Fairfield 14 years ago, for Glendora, California, was married on November 6th, 1910 to Miss Harriet Duncan Bandy at the home of the bride's parents, her father performing the ceremony in the presence of the immediate friends of the family. The happy couple will make their home on a fine ranch recently purchased by the groom near Lemoore, Cal.

OBSERVED MOTHER'S DAY

Mother's Day was very generally observed in Gettysburg by the wearing of flowers. The majority of the people seen on the streets or at churches wore carnations or other pretty flowers and several of the ministers used the observance of the day as the theme for one of their sermons.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE DR. HUBER

The funeral of the late Dr. Eli Huber was held from his home on Carlisle street at half past two this afternoon and was largely attended.

The services opened with the Scripture lesson read by Dr. H. W. McKnight, president of the college during the time that Dr. Huber was a member of the faculty. Dr. M. Coover, a warm personal friend and Dr. Huber's successor as professor of English Bible and chaplain at college, offered prayer and Rev. Henry Anstadt, pastor of College Church, made the address.

Rev. Mr. Anstadt had for his text Job 5: 26 "Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season." The benediction was pronounced by Dr. J. A. Singmaster, chairman of the Theological Seminary faculty.

The funeral proceeded then to the Reading station being preceded by the students of college and preparatory who marched in double column to the station, the lines dividing there and the students standing with bare heads as the carriages passed through.

The pall bearers were Judge Swope, Dr. G. D. Stahley, Frank D. Blocher, Andrew Utz, Dr. P. M. Bickle, Prof. Clyde B. Stover.

The body was taken to So Nykill Haven where further services will be held in St. Matthew's Lutheran church Tuesday afternoon. They will be in charge of the Rev. Daniel N. Moser, the pastor, and the address will be made by Dr. Herbert C. Alleman, of Philadelphia.

BIGLERVILLE

Biglerville, May 15—Memorial exercises will be held in Biglerville on Saturday afternoon, May 27th, at 2:30 P. M. Busey, of Bendersville, will be the orator of the day and will be assisted in the exercises by Rev. C. F. Floto and Rev. Mr. Marks. Order of parade, Citizens' Band, Knights of Pythias of Arendtsville; Patriotic Sons of America, of Arendtsville; Knights of the Golden Eagle No. 141, Biglerville; Sunday School children, Citizens' Band, Bendersville, followed by the Grand Army Post of Bendersville, then the carriages.

The Reformed people have bought a building site for their proposed new church on East York street, extended.

Building operations are now in full swing in our little borough. Some eight or ten are now under way. Among them are the following: Samuel Dugan, a house, Hanson Oyler, a house; George W. Bowers, a house; Ira P. Taylor, a house; R. T. Roth, three houses; Thomas Brothers' store, hall and office building; the cold storage building, where a large force of men are at work; A. W. Fehl, a house.

Surveyors started on Saturday to survey the Conewago and Southern Railroad route. Beginning at or near East York street thence south crossing East Hanover street between the Philadelphia and Reading railroad tracks and the Musselman Canning Company's plant, thence crossing South Main street at the southern limits of the borough, thence in a westerly direction to Cashtown via Arendtsville. With the proposed new railroad, if built, and three lines of state roads leading to our town, we surely will be "it."

The town is now enjoying city mail service, there being three deliveries and two collections daily. Mr. W. A. Reary performs this service and is supported by private citizens, principally by Eastenders.

The Citizens' Band will hold a festival on Saturday evening, May 27th.

The Musselman Canning Company has bought a tract of land from S. G. Bigham, adjoining the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. Consideration not known.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company is negotiating for a tract of land here for the purpose of enlarging its yard.

QUARANTINE ON COUNTY DOGS

State Officer May be Sent to Adams County to Place Quarantine on All Dogs Exposed to Rabid Animal.

Following the report from the state department that the head of the dog which was shot near Gettysburg last Sunday revealed the existence of rabies, Dr. W. L. Herbert, representing the state livestock sanitary board, has been authorized to ascertain the territory covered by the dog which belonged to Attorney George Schmidt, of York, and establish a quarantine as extensive as in his judgment is required. It will be effective for 100 days. State officers will probably be sent here to see to its enforcement.

This means that, in all probability, the entire section of Adams County from McSherrytown to the home of Harry Black between Barlow and Gettysburg will be put under the quarantine.

Dr. Herbst today went over the route taken by George S. Schmidt's dog to ascertain just what damage he did and learn how many dogs were exposed to that animal. The report from the state livestock board was received Saturday and it states that Mr. Schmidt's dog was undoubtedly mad. This is the dog that is said to have bitten several persons and a number of dogs in the vicinity of Hanover and near Gettysburg before the dog was shot by Charles Black.

Dr. Herbst stated that he would at least quarantine all dogs which are suspected of having been exposed to the Schmidt dog. The whole matter is left to his discretion.

Saturday six were immediately killed by Special Officer H. B. Kain, of the York Branch of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Several of these dogs had been bitten by the Schmidt dog and owners of the others wished them put out of the way. The society presented the dog catcher with a heavy pair of horse hide gloves as a protection.

Chester Hoopes, the substitute mail carrier, who was bitten by the dog, is to be treated at the Pasteur Institute, Baltimore.

Reports have been received of several other York persons having been bitten by dogs during the past few days.

TO GIVE BIG SHOW

The largest and best home talent show attempted here for several years is promised for Friday evening, May 26, when "The King's Carnival" will be given in the Wizard Theatre by one hundred and fifty local people. The attraction will be under the direction of Miss McCloskey who has just finished like productions in Waynesboro and Hanover, the papers of those towns being inscribed in their praise. Both towns claimed the event far in advance of the usual home talent show in every way, but especially in the matter of costumes and music. The date formerly announced for Tuesday, May 23, has been changed to Friday, May 26, to allow more time for training the large cast and chorus. Benefit Y. M. C. A.

The tennis team lost to State on Friday three matches to two and won from Juniata on Saturday by the same score. The State score is satisfactory in view of the fact that the Central Pennsylvania institution has on its team the champion of the western part of the state.

AN EPOCH IN CIRCUSDOM

When Mr. E. Haag, proprietor of the Mighty Haag Shows which exhibits at Gettysburg on May 16 decided to inaugurate his sixteenth season as a successful purveyor of all that is good in circusdom to the public, he decided to create a new departure, his idea being to combine a first class circus and wild west performance under one mammoth stretch of water proof and sun-proof canvas, and for one price of admission something never attempted before by any showman; both circus and Wild West will be complete exhibitions in itself in every detail making the best exhibition ever offered to the public. While giving two distinct exhibitions the price will be the same as charged for either circus or Wild West by other managers.

ELEVEN DEER SEEN

Gettysburg people who spent Sunday at Graffenburg saw eleven deer walk leisurely across the road a short distance from the inn. The pretty animals were in no hurry and nipped the grass as they walked along. After jumping a fence some little distance from the road they disappeared in the forest. Three bucks and eight does comprised the herd.

FIRE NEAR CALEDONIA

Fire in the state forestry reserve near Caledonia burned over one hundred acres of valuable timberland on Sunday and was finally conquered by State Forestry Commissioner Conklin's force of men after a hard fight.

The fires have become so frequent and have started at such peculiar places that those who are contending with the unwelcome conditions have come to the conclusion that the mountains are deliberately set on fire without any tangible reason or purpose.

In almost every instance the sources of the fires on South Mountain this spring have been at places which would not be used by campers or people in the mountains for a day's outing so that the theory of the timber being set on fire by careless pleasure seekers is not tenable. The fires have all started in places some distance from the mountain streams and not easily accessible and the guardians of the land are at a loss to know who starts the trouble and for what reason.

The timberland is very dry now following several weeks of practically no rainfall and the blaze once started and fanned by the wind spreads rapidly so that it is only by the most skillful work that more damage is prevented.

REVISE SCHEDULE K IN COMMITTEE TODAY

Cut in Wool Duty Will be About 40 Per Cent.

Washington, May 15.—The ways and means committee will meet today to begin the revision of the wool schedule.

A majority of the Democrats on the committee are in favor of free wool, but do not believe it would be wise to make such a reduction at this time. It is thought that the cut will be about 50 per cent.

Chairman Underwood will endeavor to get his committee to agree upon a revision next week, so that the bill can be framed and presented to the house inside of two weeks.

"We are certain of only one thing," said a member of the committee, "and that is that we will bring out a bill that every Democrat in the house will support. We will not have any serious differences on the floor of the house."

PLANNING THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

National Conference Meets in Philadelphia.

OVER 250 DELEGATES ATTEND

Experts Will Discuss Subjects Relating to All the Way From Clean Gutters to Beautiful Architecture.

Philadelphia, May 15.—The third National Conference on City Planning, attended by a great and representative gathering of real figures in state and municipal governments of the United States, opened in this city.

More than 250 delegates from many parts of the United States and Europe have registered at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, the headquarters of the conference.

While here the delegates will be the guests of the city and Mayor Reuburn and will be extensively entertained during the three days of the conference.

The entertainment started this morning, when the mayor personally took the delegates on a tour of the city. All of the party were accommodated in automobiles.

Sessions of the conference will be held morning, afternoon and evening in Mayor Reuburn's reception room in the city hall and in the clover room of the Bellevue-Stratford hotel. At these papers of wide scope and interest will be read by the country's most prominent authorities on city planning. Each paper will be followed by discussion, in which prominent delegates will join.

The conference is not going to discuss visionary plans of beautiful cities, but they will get down to real practical work in discussing the very best things that can be done for the improvement of a city.

In reality city planning is the scientific management of a city in its first stage, that of erection and care of buildings, streets transportation lines, health and security of the citizens and hundreds of things reaching all the way from clean gutters to beautiful architecture.

Some of the subjects to be discussed are: "Municipal Real Estate Policies," "Public Buildings," "The Location of Public Buildings in Parks and Other Public Open Places," "Buildings in Relation to Street and Site," "Taxes, Assessment and Condemnation," "Transportation," "Street Widths and Their Subdivision" and "The Principles of a Uniform City Planning Code."

The conference, which promises to be the greatest of its kind ever held, will be closed on Wednesday night with a grand banquet at the Bellevue-Stratford, given by Mayor Reuburn and the city. Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the interior, will be the toastmaster. Among the speakers will be: Count J. H. von Bernstorff, the German ambassador; Raymond Unwin, the English author and architect; United States Senator Francis G. Newlands, of Nevada, and Mayor Reuburn. Frederick Law Olmstead, chairman of the executive committee of the conference, will preside at the sessions. Flavel Schurteff, of Boston, is the secretary.

UNBITTEN GIRL HAS RABIES

Most Mysterious Case of Hydrophobia Yet Reported.

Salisbury, Pa., May 15.—A mysterious case of rabies has developed in Hellwood, near here, of which Helen Davis, about eight years old, is the victim.

So far as is known the child has never been bitten by a dog, and no scar could be found.

Dr. R. T. McHenry, of Hellwood, discovered positive symptoms of rabies and notified the local representative of the state health department, Dr. S. C. Weaver, who ordered the child sent to a Johnstown hospital for Pasteur treatment.

BIND BY WALLPAPER

Pittsburg, Pa., May 15.—Mrs. M. J. Anderson, thirty-five years old, of Homestead, probably will lose the sight of her right eye through being poisoned by tints in wall paper. She is now at a hospital suffering greatly.

She was having her rooms papered and the gilt and red coloring matter brushed from the wall entered her eyes, causing them to become so inflamed that within a few hours she was totally blind. Physicians declared that the coloring matter in the paper caused all the trouble.

London, May 15.—The German imperial yacht Hohenzollern, with the emperor and empress and Princess Victoria Luise on board, arrived at Sheerness. The German cruisers escorting the yacht exchanged salutes with the British warships. The emperor will remain in London a week, during which time he will attend the unveiling of the great national memorial to Queen Victoria, and be entertained at various functions, preliminary to the coronation festivities.

DEATH OF BAYARD PUZZLES CORONER

Fell or 'umped From Window in Hospital.

Washington, May 15.—Philip Bayard, of Wilmington, Del., son of the late Thomas F. Bayard, secretary of state and ambassador to England under President Cleveland, died at Garfield hospital. Coroner Nevitt has ordered an investigation.

Mr. Bayard had been a patient at the hospital since Friday. Saturday evening he either fell or jumped from the window of his room on the third floor to the second floor veranda, where he was found in a semi-conscious condition.

A careful examination failed to indicate that Mr. Bayard had received any serious injury from his fall, but he suddenly collapsed and died.

It was only recently that Mr. Bayard went to Washington from Baltimore, where he had been visiting his sister. He became ill and went to the hospital, where his ailment was diagnosed as uraemic poisoning. Two special nurses were instructed not to leave him alone, night or day. He was left alone for ten minutes. When the nurse returned she found his room empty and a few minutes later he was found below.

BALL PLAYER FALLS DEAD

Was Stricken at Home Plate After "Three Strikes" Had Been Called.

New York, May 15.—While playing ball on the old Westchester golf links, at Watson's lane and Westchester avenue, the Bronx, Charles Washauer, thirty-eight years old, was stricken at the home plate after "three strikes" had been called on him and died before medical aid could reach him.

Acute heart trouble, brought on by the excitement of trying to knock out a home run in a critical point in the game is believed to have been the cause of the ball player's sudden death.

Auto Turned Turtle: Man Killed.

Washington, May 15.—A speeding automobile turned turtle on the Baltimore turnpike about twelve miles from Washington, killing Robert O. C. Williams, a wealthy and prominent Baltimorean, and probably also fatally injuring his companion, Miss Helen Griffith, also of that city. A coroner's jury brought in a verdict declaring that the dead man had been guilty of "criminal negligence in not observing the speed laws and the rules of the road."

Goes Visiting in Aeroplane.

New Haven, Conn., May 15.—Lincoln Beachey, one of the Curtiss aviators, flew into town from Bridgeport, landing at Yale field, where a crowd of Yale men interested in flying awaited him. He made the trip of sixteen miles from Bridgeport in fifteen minutes.

Attention!!

Fruit Growers & Potato Raisers

Atomic Sulphur or Lime Sulphur Solution combined with Arsenate of Lead used as directed in Prof. Scott's Bulletin, is the best treatment for controlling fungous diseases and Codling Moth on apples and Lime Sulphur Solution 2 gallons to 50 gallons of water with from 3 to 4 lbs. of Arsenate of Lead added to the diluted mixture is the best treatment for use on potatoes.

Growers, however, who prefer to use Bordeaux Mixture combined with Arsenate of Lead, notwithstanding the evidence that other treatments are better, do not need to purchase it under a proprietary name or at fancy prices (See Statements of Prof. Stewart on Page 183 of the Report of the State Horticultural Association for 1911).

If you will come to us we will sell you Bordeaux Mixture combined with Arsenate of Lead under its proper name and on its own merit at 8c per lb., in 25, 50, or 100 lb. packages.

We believe, however, the growers in Adams County will make a mistake in using Bordeaux Mixture or any preparation containing copper, because of the almost certain russetting of the fruit which destroys its natural beauty and lessens its true market value.

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

PRESIDENT CUT SHORT HIS VISIT

Only Three Hours in Harrisburg Owing to Wife's Illness.

ADDRESSED TRAINMEN'S UNION

Spoke of Trades Unions and Defined His Position in Regard to Government Clerks Joining Federation of Labor.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 15. — When President Taft arrived here to address the convention of the railway trainmen he was greeted at the station by Governor Tener, of Pennsylvania, and a committee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

As he stepped from his car the president was presented with a badge of membership in the general lodge of the brotherhood and a gold badge of membership of the local lodge.

Owing to Mrs. Taft's illness the president remained in the city but three hours.

In the few hours he was in Harrisburg the president motored through streets that were lined with thousands of people, silent for the most part, because they had heard through bulletins posted about town of Mrs. Taft's illness; visited Representative Olmsted for a half hour and made a speech to several thousand people. The speech was delivered to the tenth biennial convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen of the United States and Canada.

The president was introduced by Governor Tener. It was a straight-from-the-shoulder talk, the president made, but the delegates seemed to like it.

Keeps Close to Text.

The president kept close to his text. He spoke of trades unions, their good and bad points, but he wound up by defining his position in regard to the affiliation with the American Federation of Labor or organizations of government clerks. The question, he said, is most likely to come up in congress. It presents a serious problem, which the president declared demanded the attention of the whole people. He said in part:

"I think some persons have gone to the extreme of holding that there ought to be no combinations of government employees permitted. I think, however, that in all governments, and I have given some examination to the subject, the government employees are permitted to combine and have associations for their betterment, but the proposition now is that such combinations should be allowed to affiliate with trades union organizations made up of the employees of private employers, and to use the same methods in securing better terms of employment that are recognized as lawful and justifiable in the ordinary trade union; in other words, that it is entirely proper for combinations of postal employees and others to combine in an association to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor, and then to hold in reserve as an instrument for enforcing their claims, presented to congress for increased compensation, or the betterment of terms in other respects, the boycott and the strike, which are instruments recognized by the American Federation of Labor and supported and justified by it when used by the trades unions affiliated in such federation.

"This presents a very serious question, and one which, if decided in favor of the right of government employees to strike and use the boycott, will be full of danger to the government of the republic.

"The government employees of France resorted to it, and took the government by the throat. The executive was entirely dependent upon these employees for its continuance.

"I do not think that reasonably-minded trades union men who are fully alive to the necessity for rigorous means to enforce their rights in their controversies with capital and with their employers will fail to see the broad difference that exists between their case, in which they are contending for the betterment of their livelihood against the naturally selfish motives of their employers, and that of the class of government employees who are privileged not only in the amount of their compensation, the less number of hours of their employment and the greater permanency of tenure and who serve the government of all the people, the very existence of which will be threatened should they combine together to quit the government service all at once and paralyze the benefit and the equal benefits that the government is properly supposed and held to confer upon the people at large.

"It is likely that this question is going to be made an issue in congress and it calls for the most earnest consideration."

"The government employees are a privileged class, whose work is necessary to carry on the government and upon whose entry into the government service it is entirely reasonable to impose conditions that should not be and ought not to be imposed upon those who serve private employers."

Escorted by Troops.

When the president had finished speaking he was escorted to the residence of Congressman Olmsted by the

MRS. WILLIAM H. TAFT.

Governor's Troop and a detachment of the state police from Pottsville. He received a number of Harrisburg residents and later on visited the executive mansion to pay his respects to the Governor and Mrs. Tener and also called at the home of James M. Lamberton, his classmate at Yale university.

The president's progress to the station was through streets lined with people from the central section of the state. He was repeatedly cheered, and when the train left the station crowds lining bridges and railroad tracks waved him farewell.

The president's change of plans forced the abandonment of the dinner to have been given in his honor by Governor Tener at the executive mansion and a review of the Boy Scouts of America.

MRS. TAFT ILL; PRESIDENT WITH HER

New York, May 15.—President Taft altered his plans and on account of the illness of Mrs. Taft, who remained at Henry W. Taft's house, 36 West Forty-eighth street, returned from Harrisburg to New York.

Mrs. Taft had intended to go to Harrisburg with the president, but was taken suddenly ill and was unable to make the trip. Her condition did not improve during the day, so Henry W. Taft wired the president accordingly. Dr. Evans said that Mrs. Taft's condition was satisfactory.

On Saturday night Mrs. Taft attended the dinner given by the Academy of Political Science at the Hotel Astor, at which the president spoke. She sat at the table with William M. Ivins and the president came over and spoke to her. Upon reaching Henry W. Taft's house she complained of not feeling well, but they didn't think she would be seriously ill. She thought then that she would be able to join the president's party and go on from Harrisburg to Washington with him.

However, Mr. Taft didn't consider it advisable for her to leave the house.

Miss Helen Taft came on from Washington. Robert and Charles Taft were informed of their mother's illness, but they didn't come to New York.

Mrs. Taft will probably stay in New York for three or four days, and if she desires the president to remain with her he will do so unless affairs in Washington make his presence there imperative. She is suffering from a nervous trouble similar to that of two years ago, but in a less severe form.

MURDERED AND ROBBED

Norfolk, Va., May 15. — In a little fringe of woods on the edge of Paradise creek a murder was revealed when a party of searchers, scouring the country in quest of J. L. Benton, a merchant, who had been missing from his home on Deep Creek shell road since last Friday, found him with a gaping wound in his face.

Robbery was undoubtedly the ruling motive of the crime and a shotgun was the weapon.

Industrious and possessed of a large family to care for, Mr. Benton had accumulated considerable money, which he carried about with him wherever he went. He had in his pockets when he left his home on Friday morning nearly $900. When his pockets were searched the money was gone.

Auto Cuts Off Boy's Nose.

New York, May 15.—The mudguard of an automobile cut off the nose of Leon Bartnick, five years old, while he was playing in front of his home, 126 Flushing avenue, Astoria. The machine, which was driven and owned by Louis Bloom, of Astoria, got mixed up with a truck on the avenue. Bloom tried to get the car out of the way of the truck just as young Bartnick and some of his playmates started to run across the street.

WILL ATTACK MEXICO CITY

Insurrecto Forces Marching on the Capitol.

THE ARMISTICE BROKEN

It Is Believed Rebel Army of Over 11,000 Will Have Little Trouble in Capturing Diaz's Stronghold—Feeling Against Dictator Growing.

Mexico City, May 15.—The armistice arranged between the government and Figuerero, commanding the rebels in Guerrero, has been broken and there is a strong possibility of an attack upon Mexico City within two weeks if the rebel plans materialize.

A correspondent who accompanied Francisco Figuerero, the rebel peace envoy and brother of the leader, who left Mexico City Tuesday carrying a government proposition which proved unacceptable to the rebels, advised that an attack upon Iguala might be expected any moment. Miranda, leading 4000 rebels, left Buena Vista for Iguala, which is fifteen miles distant, expected that little trouble would be encountered in taking the town, as the garrison there is small and the rebels are well armed. As telegraphic communication has been interrupted it is expected that it will be several days before news of the battle will be able to reach here.

Figuerero's plan is to capture the town of Iguala, then Chilpancingo and Cuernavaca and afterwards to march on Mexico City.

Woman Commands 2000 Rebels.
One report has it that there are 800 rebels at Buena Vista; 2000 at Huizucoc and 6000 coming from Acapulco. There are 2000 more under the command of the amazon, La Neri. Her forces are stationed at Chilpancingo, awaiting reinforcements before attacking the town. There is a large number of women among La Neri's forces and also a considerable number enlisted with Miranda as regular soldiers, who can shoot and ride almost as well as the men.

The capture of the three towns mentioned by Figuerero will give absolute control of Guerrero and Morelos, as at present he holds all small towns. While working under Madero's orders in the general campaign, he is absolute dictator of Guerrero and Morelos. If he is able to control these two states he is able to take Mexico City with little trouble.

It is acknowledged even in government circles that if the city is attacked there would be an internal uprising to help the invaders. It is believed that there is a considerable number of army officers stationed in Mexico City who are in communication with Madero and who, when the word is given, are ready to rise with their men against the government.

The feeling against President Diaz is growing on account of the fact that the people believe that he should abdicate immediately and stop the war. As the popular opinion is emphatic there is no hope that the Diaz regime will triumph. It is believed that the old man's pride is the only thing that is standing in the way of peace.

ANARCHY IN MEXICO CITY

Alleged Revolutionists Are Looting the Capital.

San Antonio, Texas, May 15.—The northbound train on the International & Northern, which arrived in San Antonio, was crowded to the guards with Americans and foreigners, and attached to the train was an extra sleeper and two coaches of passengers who came directly from the City of Mexico. They said the line is now open all the way from San Antonio to the City of Mexico and that no trouble was experienced in reaching this city.

Mrs. Fred Wolters, who came from the capital, was spokesman for a party of a dozen women whose husbands remain in Mexico. She said: "We are glad to get out of that country with clothing on our backs. The looting now going on in the City of Mexico by professional thieves who mask as agents of the revolution is terrible. We have feared that the thugs would not merely take out property but add murder to their crimes. The City of Mexico before I left had already heard of the fall of Juarez, and the sympathy of the people are with the rebels, and there was hardly any holding them when they learned of the insurrecto victory. I might say without fear of contradiction that within two weeks most of the foreign population of the capital city will be either in the United States or on the water out of Vera Cruz sailing for some friendly port for safety. Every foreigner in the city has the flag of his country flying from some conspicuous place on his home, but this will afford very little protection. All along the route from the City of Mexico to the Mexican border at Laredo we heard nothing but 'Viva Madero!' and the inhabitants were asking the passengers at each stop when the insurrecto leader would arrive and how soon he would take their town."

LOOKING FOR MICA

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press

It was a queer coincidence that brought the three men together at a table in a cheap restaurant. There was Moses Ikestein, who had just failed in the clothing business. He had figured to fail at a profit, but there had been a hitch in his calculations, and he was about done for.

There was Jim Greene, a newspaper man. That is, he had been employed on various newspapers without credit to them or him.

There was Dick Grahame, a shyster lawyer, who had been disbarred and was thinking if he should turn lecturer and expose the rest of the profession.

These three men were eating cheap dinners. Between mouthfuls they sized each other up. None of the three sized another up as an honest man, and this fact warmed them to each other. The meal had been almost finished, however, before Mr. Ikestein ventured to observe:

"Gentlemen, this is a hard world."

"It is," replied Mr. Greene.

"No one can be an honest man any more," said Mr. Ikestein.

"Gentlemen, we three are honest men. We must have the interests of our country more at heart. We must go out in to the park and sit down on a bench and talk in confidence. Because of my clothing business you must not distrust me. Because of your business I must not distrust you."

The result of their talk was an understanding, and the result of the understanding was the organizing of the Great Western Mica company. Mr. Greene could write luridly, and he was to manage the advertising.

The public caught on to the ads. slowly. It was used to gold and silver mine ads, but this was a mica mine, and it didn't guarantee to pay over 50 per cent dividends for the first twelve months.

Now and then a minister or a widow sent in a poor $5 for investment, and thus the office rent was paid, but none of the trio bought himself an auto.

"We should have promised 100 per cent dividends," growled Mr. Ikestein.

"We should have made it 150," added Mr. Greene.

"Two hundred at the very least," announced Mr. Grahame.

"But still we may add to the prosperity of the country by being not too honest," continued Mr. Ikestein as he sawed away at his steak. "Gentlemen, into the office this afternoon there came a sucker. He was good to look upon. In his hair there was hayseed. Among his whiskers were long straws. He was the innocent of the valley."

"And he wanted stock?" was asked.

"Better than that. For stock he cared not. For the land he cared a great deal. Having purchased three more cows, he must have more land for pasture. See?"

"But that land is a mountain peak!" exclaimed Mr. Grahame.

"So I did not explain, but so the innocent man from the valley seemed to know. He said that the higher up a mountain he could get his cows the higher prices he could get for his milk and butter."

"And he will buy it?"

"If the price is right. Gentlemen, it is up to us to think. Have we been too honest? If not, then why have we not met with prosperity? A too honest man has too little to offer the public. We have offered but 50 per cent dividends."

"But the savings banks offer only 4 per cent," protested Greene, who was responsible for putting the mica dividends so low.

"It is true, but a savings bank is not a mica mine. It has a granite building, with bronze hinges on the front doors. It has stained glass windows. It has a president who rides in an automobile. It does not permit the fakes to come in and sell suspenders and lead pencils. Ah, a savings bank is different—very different."

"But about the sucker?"

"He will take that cow pasture at $1500 and let us out. I am to let him know tomorrow."

"That's five hundred apiece," said Greene.

"And in a lump," added Grahame.

"And we can take the money and advertise the Arctic Peach company, with dividends at 125. This time we must not be too honest. The public loves him not. It sends him too few checks. It is then agreed that the sucker shall have this mountain peak cow pasture."

The sucker called next day, and the deal was closed. The money was divided, and the three went their separate ways. It was a year later when Mr. Greene met Mr. Ikestein on the street.

"You see—you see!" shouted the latter as he raised his hand skyward.

"I see what?"

"You see the too honest men. You see only 50 per cent dividends. You see we make nothing."

"Oh, yes, I see."

"And you see the sucker. You see the cow pasture. You see we sell out?"

"Yes, I see all that."

"But you don't see, you can't see, you will never see, that it was a silver mine was sold for $1500 and the innocent sucker is taking out $1,000,000 worth of ore a month? Oh, this too much honesty! It will be the ruin of our country yet!"

LOOKING FOR MICA

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press

It was a queer coincidence that brought the three men together at a table in a cheap restaurant. There was Moses Ikestein, who had just failed in the clothing business. He had figured to fail at a profit, but there had been a hitch in his calculations, and he was about done for.

There was Jim Greene, a newspaper man. That is, he had been employed on various newspapers without credit to them or him.

There was Dick Grahame, a shyster lawyer, who had been disbarred and was thinking if he should turn lecturer and expose the rest of the profession.

These three men were eating cheap dinners. Between mouthfuls they sized each other up. None of the three sized another up as an honest man, and this fact warmed them to each other. The meal had been almost finished, however, before Mr. Ikestein ventured to observe:

"Gentlemen, this is a hard world."

"It is," replied Mr. Greene.

"Gentlemen, we three are honest men. We must have the interests of our country more at heart. We must go out in to the park and sit down on a bench and talk in confidence. Because of my clothing business you must not distrust me. Because of your business I must not distrust you."

The result of their talk was an understanding, and the result of the understanding was the organizing of the Great Western Mica company. Mr. Greene could write luridly, and he was to manage the advertising.

The public caught on to the ads. slowly. It was used to gold and silver mine ads, but this was a mica mine, and it didn't guarantee to pay over 50 per cent dividends for the first twelve months.

Now and then a minister or a widow sent in a poor $5 for investment, and thus the office rent was paid, but none of the trio bought himself an auto.

"We should have promised 100 per cent dividends," growled Mr. Ikestein.

"We should have made it 150," added Mr. Greene.

"Two hundred at the very least," announced Mr. Grahame.

"But still we may add to the prosperity of the country by being not too honest," continued Mr. Ikestein as he sawed away at his steak. "Gentlemen, into the office this afternoon there came a sucker. He was good to look upon. In his hair there was hayseed. Among his whiskers were long straws. He was the innocent of the valley."

"And he wanted stock?" was asked.

"Better than that. For stock he cared not. For the land he cared a great deal. Having purchased three more cows, he must have more land for pasture. See?"

"But that land is a mountain peak!" exclaimed Mr. Grahame.

"So I did not explain, but so the innocent man from the valley seemed to know. He said that the higher up a mountain he could get his cows the higher prices he could get for his milk and butter."

"And he will buy it?"

"If the price is right. Gentlemen, it is up to us to think. Have we been too honest? If not, then why have we not met

Good News For Catarrh Sufferers

So many hundreds of catarrh victims who have taken the HYOMEI treatment, have written thanking us for publishing our method of taking the HYOMEI vapor treatment in connection with the inhaler that we gladly publish it again. The vapor treatment is especially recommended in stubborn cases of chronic catarrh of long standing, but remember that the inhaler should be used daily as usual.

This treatment only takes five minutes time before going to bed. Pour a teaspoonful of HYOMEI into a bowl of boiling water, cover head and bowl with towel and breathe for several minutes the vapor that arises.

You will be surprised at the result of this treatment; it makes the head feel fine and clear; you will sleep better, and that stuffed up feeling will gradually disappear.

This method will break up the worst cold in the head in one night.

A bottle of HYOMEI costs 50 cents at People's Drug Store who guarantees it. Complete outfit, which includes the little pocket inhaler, costs $1.00.

JOKE ON HIMSELF

The York Springs Comet contains the following:

"When Mrs. C. W. Gardner came to clean house one day recently she discovered a snake lying behind a box on the garret and called her husband to come up and kill it. In a couple minutes he was on the scene armed with a meat saw, crowbar, axe and base ball bat, and proceeded to pound the life out of the snake. When the reptile was hauled forth it proved to be a rubber snake that Charlie had purchased at the Portland Exposition and brought home and fooled his friends. Of course they are enjoying the joke on the popular merchant very much.

IRON ROADS IN THE FUTURE?

Experiment Made With Success Near London.

"WILL LAST EIGHTY YEARS."

Many Countries Interested In This New Movement—Mud and Dirt Almost Entirely Eliminated—Cleanliness of Roads Helps Housewives to Keep Their Homes Also Clean.

Borough councils of London have developed a sudden interest in what is called the "iron" road, and the national road board is equally alive to the possible revolutionary importance of the innovation. Several lengths were laid in Fulham some months ago, and Francis Wood, the borough engineer, declares that the results are more favorable than anybody concerned dared hope.

America, the West Indies and the principal countries of continental Europe are besieging the London authorities for information, while engineers in the English provinces and in Scotland and Ireland are showing the liveliest interest.

"I am convinced," said Mr. Wood, who is the pioneer in this kind of construction, "that the iron road is the road of the future. One of its best features is its hygienic effect on the districts in which it is in use. Fulham has become decidedly healthier. Nearly 6,000 tons less of mud and dirt have been removed from the paved areas recently than during the corresponding period when the roads were of macadam.

"So smooth is the pavement that children returning from school may be seen chalking their sums on it. The effect of clean streets in the poorer neighborhoods has been to make the inhabitants ashamed of their dirty homes and bring them up to the standard of cleanliness outside.

"The new road provides a great reduction in taxes, for while it costs 3s. 6d. (84 cents) a yard compared with 2 shillings (48 cents) for macadam it lasts seventy or eighty years, or probably five times as long.

"In the manufacture of the new material sand and granite are shoveled into holders and automatically passed over hot cylinders, which thoroughly dry them. Then the two constituents are separated and left to await the arrival of bitumen or binding material, a black, sticky substance of volcanic production brought from Trinidad. The bitumen is put in tanks, melted and fluxed. Petroleum is then poured into a funnel shaped contrivance with proportions of the dried sand and gravel. The whole is mixed by machinery consisting of grinding iron teeth. Below the mixer carts wait to carry away the material for use."

BROOD SOW IN WINTER.

Success in pork production is largely affected by the attention given to the health and comfort of the brood sow. She should always be housed in a warm, comfortable place. Preferably this will be a cot supplied with straw and having a door which swings both ways, always closing when the sow passes in or out. This cot may well be located at some distance from the feeding place, so that she will get the necessary exercise in running to and fro.

Her food should consist largely of bulky foods, such as milk, roots and clover hay, which will keep her in good condition without fattening. As farrowing time approaches the bulk should be cut down, less water should be given, and more protein and oily feeds should be fed, so as to keep the sow in a laxative condition.

ORIGIN OF THE HOLSTEIN.

History of the Black and White Belgian Far In the Past.

The Friesian people, whose name is particularly familiar to all Holstein breeders, first came into history about 300 B. C., but from whence they originated is an unsettled fact. From the earliest historical accounts of the Friesian people they have dwelt upon the shores of the North sea and possessed herds of cattle, from which they have derived their chief means of support.

Two hundred years later a German tribe, who were also breeders of cattle, settled near the Friesians. The supposition of many is that dating back the Friesian cattle were white, while the cattle of their neighbors were black, and from the cross of the two the foundation of the present Friesian breed was laid.

The Holstein-Friesian, commonly termed the black and white cow, is of splendid conformation. The head is rather long and narrow, eyes full, nose straight without flesh, nostrils large and well open mouth, rather broad and wide. The neck is long and fine, somewhat curved downward on top, brisket well set, withers and back broad and slightly sloping rump. The udder is of enormous size, extend-

The Holstein-Friesian cattle are all very nearly uniform in build, size and quality, and for generations the natural conditions under which this breed has been kept have been the most favorable for the production of a milk breed. They are the most celebrated of the Holstein cattle, being regarded as the original stock. The cow herewith pictured is a fine specimen of this popular breed of dairy cattle.

ing well forward, where it has a squareness of form and is very broad. The teats are cylindrical in form and usually from two and a half to three and a half inches in length.

For real production the Holstein-Friesian cow perhaps ranks foremost. The calves are large and grow very rapidly.

Considering the amount of food consumed by the average Holstein-Friesian cow, her yield of milk production cannot be exceeded by any other breed of cattle. Owing to her large milk production she is especially valuable in communities where there are cheese factories or city markets. —Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

Care of Pregnant Ewes.

The pregnant ewes must have as far as possible natural conditions. They must have suitable feed at all times to properly nourish the growing foetuses without stimulating undue development of bone. Endeavor to so feed that ewes will be in good flesh at all times, but not overweight.

There is considerable danger in feeding well bred ewes too highly on wheat, corn and alfalfa hay. Some of the best feeders use bran sparingly before lambing time, but give sweet corn stover and alfalfa hay. But if forage is very coarse it is well to feed a small quantity of grain with it. A mixture of corn and oats may be used.

Oilmeal For Horses.

The experience of the Iowa station with substitutes for oats for horse feeding, although not complete, leads it to believe that corn and oilmeal or cottonseed meal will give good results at a substantial reduction in cost. It found that with corn at 50 cents and oats at 40 cents oilmeal had a value of fully $30 a ton to feed to work horses and cottonseed meal a trifle more.

Too Much Aid.

The professor of law was quizzing his class. Singling out a somnolent student in the rear of the room, he addressed a question to him. Confused, the student rose and bent his ear to catch the stage whispers of his friends seated about him.

"Well, you ought to be able to answer," snapped the professor, "with all the aid you are receiving back there!" "Professor," came the quick reply, "I could, but there's a difference of opinion back here."

HOW'S YOUR SMELLER?

Reporters have a nose for news. They are just bully fellows. But gossip—oh, Jehovahphat, They've got the longest smellers!

But rooster cranks must have a snoot To catch the different scent Of varmints that come round the coop On chicken dinners bent.

A pug nose just suits fur ole skunk, Because his scent's so strong. Your snoot might get all busted up If it is middlin' long.

Fur foxes, coons, rats, weasels, minks, You need a long sharp snoot. They're offal stinky with their scents. My golly, can't they scoot?

An' if your nose has got a crook How kin you scent skunks straight? You better hurry down to Doc An' have him operate.

Doc makes a telescopic snoot That pulls out short or long. It's just the thing to corner scents— Scents mild or offal strong.

Don't wear that red light on your nose. Them animals so slick Will just give you the ha, ha, ha. An' then skeddaddle quick.

GAPES, THEIR PREVENTION AND CURE.

"What do you do for gapes?" is a question that meets us wherever we lecture at farmers' institutes, and we always astonish our hearers with the reply, "Don't have any gapes." Really, reader, it's easy to prevent gapes.

Have you noticed few brooder chicks have gapes? That's because they are kept dry. They are slept on dry litter and kept from running in rain until old enough to stand it. Then they are kept clean. They sleep in a clean nursery, eat off a clean table, and the brooder being moved often, they run and browse on clean ground. Catch the point here?

The study of the origin of evil we leave to the preachers, and the tracking of microbes and wigglers back to their Adamite ancestor we leave to the lynx eyed experiment station bald-heads.

Your humble servant finds gapes prevalent where there is rotten ground and gapes galore where this rot is rain soaked.

Here's the prevention. Now for the cure. You have tried the horsehair lasso or have wiggled the trimmed turpentine feather in the chicks' windpipes and have had them to flutter and die in your hand because you pushed the worms and bloody mucus down into the lungs. You put them in a box and made them breathe the staked lime—that stinging, suffocating stuff. In all these ways you killed more than you cured. You fed them "gape cures," but they didn't hit the spot, for gapes are in the windpipe, not the digestive tract. But here is a simple sure cure for gapes: Place a hot stove lid in a bucket and cover the bucket with a cloth in the center of which is a small hole. Pour carbolic acid on the plate and make the chick or turkey pout breathe the vapor through the hole. The vapor will hit the spot, and the worms will be not.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

Iowa's return from poultry has reached $40,000,000. This equals Great Britain's, and the latter has 33,000 more acres of land.

Some fanciers use their time, brains and boodle trying to originate a new breed. They seldom succeed. Others endeavor to improve what they have and generally get there.

The court of customs appeals has decided that a hen is not a bird, a canned egg is not an albumen and a yam is not a sweet potato. It is now in order for these erudite, august solons to decide how old is Ann.

It is remarkable how much good stock may be raised from a pair or trio of fine fowls. It is better thus to start with a few good birds than to spend the same money on a dozen ordinary fowls and get left.

How do some fellows get such big prices for stock? They raise birds that are more ideal than others produce, and there is always some one with a big wad ready to snap them up.

The Massachusetts experiment station after a year's exhaustive trials with dry and moist mash feeding both summer and winter has found that the hen fed moist mash lays more eggs. Told you so.

A Cotesville (Pa.) farmer lost 100 chickens in six months and at last caught the thief—a big mink. If his wife had been on the job she'd have caught him quick as a wink.

Pullets beat old hens as layers, but for clucks they're not such stayers. Give old mummy the chicks for best licks.

Introduce the cat to the first chicks that come out and let them peck him on the snout. Old Tom will not need this lesson so much as that playful kitten, but they'll all soon be friends unless you feed your cats no meat or serve them raw chicken. Burn all chicken heads and offal in hatching season. Thus save depredations from dogs, cats and crows.

A dead crow hung up in sight will put chick hunting crows to flight, while streamers waving in the air will make old chicken hawk beware.

Weasels have a picnic when a careless poultryman allows high weeds and brush to surround his range. A chick runs near the brush so thick—a spring, old weasel's got him slick.

Before you sell eggs for hatching it is best to test eggs from the same pen for fertility. To sell an egg you know nothing about when you may know is as wrong as to sell an egg you do know is bad. Both methods generally raise a rumper and give one a bad name.

Family Portraits.

The famous Lord Chesterfield had a relative, a Mr. Stanhope, who was exceedingly proud of his pedigree, which he pretended to trace to a ridiculous antiquity. Lord Chesterfield one day, walking through an obscure street in London, saw a miserable dabb of Adam and Eve in Eden. He purchased this painting, and having written on top of it, "Adam de Stanhope of Eden and Eve, his wife," he sent it to his relative as a valuable old family portrait.
